(c) the steps being taken by Government to reduce child labour?

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR AND EMPLOYMENT (SHRI K. CHANDRASEKHAR RAO): (a) No, Sir. The number of working children in India has been varying as per the Census figures. The number of working children as per the last four census is as given below:—

Year	1971	1981	1991	2001
Population of Working children (in Crores)	1.07	1.36	1.12	1.25

(b) The existence of child labour in our country is primarily due to socio-economic reasons like prevalence of wide-scale poverty and parental illiteracy. As per the Census 2001, working children constitute 1.22% of the total population of India.

(c) In order to eliminate child labour in all forms, Government has formulated a National Child Labour Project Scheme (NCLPS). Under the Scheme, the working children are withdrawn from work and put into special schools with the objective to mainstream them into formal system of education. The Scheme, which was initially started in 1988 with 12 districts in the country, has been expanded to cover 250 districts across 21 States during the Tenth Plan.
